

AFFIRMATION

Today, I recognize the beauty of my creation. I have/had areas of guilt and places of hurt, but today I boldly stand by saying YES to ALL of me!

I stand with the sun beaming around every area of my presence. I freely allow its warmth to dry my tears, and its brightness to heal my heart. My pain might be real, but my purpose is relevant. I am not only standing but eagerly progressing forward.

My movement is strategic, wise and on purpose. I mentally shift from any words that would plant seeds of fear, doubt or discouragement. Today, I also freely release any unnecessary pressures in order to be fully present in my daily objectives.

I am grateful for my assignment from God who has equipped me to not only succeed but soar above my equals. I am forever humbled that He would choose me to make a global impact. Today, I am thankful for my destiny helpers, mentor(s) and investors who share their wisdom, time and financial resources to accelerate my assignment.

Today, I speak prosperity over my mind, body and soul and I will not allow any opposing force or negative energy to discredit my progress or healing. I decree and declare that I am prosperous from the inside out, lacking nothing. Even when the toughest lion grows hungry, I will always be fed.

My past or current issues of the heart are not worth me forfeiting my greatness. Instead, they give me momentum to never quit on God, myself, family, or my business. Today, no matter what stress I may feel, I know that I have enough faith, fortitude and forgiveness to move forward gracefully. I am not a pitiful soul, but I believe and expect the best for my life and everything my name is connected to.

Today, I am successful. Today, I am wise. Today, I am forgiven. Today, I am a blessing and will rise to every occasion by the grace of God.